Summer Concert Series Returns to Exeter

On the afternoon of July 20th Exeter City Park began to fill with a crew setting up a stage, sound equipment and spectators to witness it all. The long awaited return of the KJUG Summer Concert Series had finally arrived and the community of Exeter was eager to welcome it all back.

In conjunction with The City of Exeter and NSE Insurance Agencies, Inc., the Exeter Chamber of Commerce was happy to be a local sponsor and bring the family friendly event back to City Park.

The Exeter Chamber of Commerce has been working with KJUG to promote the concert with an emphasis of "Dine Local".

We are encouraging the concert goers to go by our local restaurants for something to eat before or after the concert. And the message has also been shared by the restaurants themselves.

The first concert was with JJ Brown a United States Navy veteran and winner of the KJUG Country Contest. Next to perform was Priscilla Block who definitely brought her fun Block Party to the crowd.

The concert August 3rd will be with MaRynn Taylor whose current single "I Know a Girl" has the perfect vibe for a summer outing. Also performing will be Ray Fulcher whose music feels like old favorites from the very first listen and will surely gain him many new fans.
